Reply to Valera's Message Reported Ready to Be Sent

One Rumor Says British Government's Answer to Sinn Fein Will Be Dispatched To-night; Fitzalan Goes Back to Ireland From Scotland.

Gairloch, Scotland, Sept. 22.—Viscount Fitzalan, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, and Edwin B. Montagu, Secretary for India, who had been here with Premier Lloyd George, left Gairloch to-day, Secretary Churchill proceeding to Dundee, where he is expected to make an important speech Saturday.

The departure of Viscount Fitzalan is taken here to indicate that the British reply to the latest telegram of Eamonn de Valera may have been decided upon, and one report says it is to be dispatched to-night.

London, Sept. 22.—Prospects of a conference between Sinn Fein representatives and members of the British cabinet at an early date were declared to-day to be less hopeful as a result of yesterday's consultation between Premier Lloyd George and several of his Ministers at Gairloch, Scotland.

INDIAN CHIEF SAW KING AND RETURNS TO CANADA

New York, Sept. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Chief Dask-Ka-Leh of the Cayuga Indians returned yesterday on the liner Olympic from London after a pilgrimage to the foot of the throne in the interests of his tribe. The chief laid before King George the treaty made with the Indians in the reign of King George III, and the wampum belts that confirmed it. He declared that he won his case before the "Great White Chief" and announced the treaty will be respected.

ARBuckle IN COURT TO-DAY

Preliminary Hearing on the Charge of Murder

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—The preliminary hearing of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, before Judge Judge Sylvian Lazarus occupied the attention of all connected with the case to-day. Men were excluded from the hearing under an order issued last night.

The prosecution would endeavor to prove at the hearing, District Attorney Matthew Brady had announced, the contention that Arbuckle attacked Miss Rappe in his suite of rooms in the Hotel St. Francis September 5 and caused injuries which resulted in her death four days later.

The complaint charging murder, under which Arbuckle has been held in jail without bail, was sworn to by Mrs. R. M. Delmont, a friend of the late Miss Rappe and one of those who attended the film comedian's party.

Brady said he believed the hearing would occupy at least three days. Films Withdrawn.
Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 22.—All First National picture exchanges were ordered to-day to withdraw from circulation all films showing Virginia Rappe, the actress for whose death Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle is held in San Francisco, it was announced here to-day. Thirty-two hundred exhibitors are represented in the action.

39,230 MAY BE COMMONS BASIS

Quebec's Population Estimated at 2,550,000

Quebec, Sept. 22.—The population of the Province of Quebec has reached 2,550,000, according to a conservative estimate made by C. Marquis, chief statistician of the province, based on municipal census reports which have been received up to now from various municipalities throughout the province. The last municipal census, which was held in 1918, gave a population of 2,486,000, compared with 2,602,232 in 1911.

Keen Interest.
Ottawa, Sept. 22.—How far the estimate of 2,550,000 as the population of Quebec province is correct, the Census Bureau here is unable as yet to determine. Returns from Quebec have not yet been so far totalized as to permit of reliable estimate. But the figure has aroused keen interest here as giving a probable indication of the unit of representation which will be the basis of the next distribution of seats in the House of Commons. The population of Quebec in 1911 was 2,095,779, and the unit of representation 30,353—a figure arrived at by dividing the population of Quebec province by 65, the fixed number of members from Quebec as determined by the British North America Act. But if the population of Quebec is now 2,550,000, the unit of representation will have increased to 39,230, or one sixty-fifth of 2,350,000, and the number of members which other provinces will be entitled to return to the House will be considerably affected.

Not Yet.
Any such changes in provincial representation will not, however, affect the coming general election, which will be held under the redistribution act of 1914, and each province will return as many members as determined by the general election of 1917. The changed representation will come into effect only after a redistribution bill is passed by the next Parliament.

TOURISTS MUST PAY $5 LIQUOR PERMITS

Visitors Must Stop Habit of Calling Themselves Residents

The tourist who has been getting his liquor during his stay in this Province on 50 cent one-purchase permits must comply with the law. New regulations of the Liquor Board provide that all persons applying for a permit must swear to a declaration as to their address to prove that they are residents of the Province.

Persons who are not residents here according to the liquor law must pay $5 for a permit good for two weeks only. Residents of the Province pay $5 for a year's permit and 50 cents for permits for one purchase.

Liquor Board officials say that persons have been arriving in British Columbia cities and have been buying only 50 cent liquor permits, instead of the $5 tourist permits, by giving a British Columbia address. Certain taxi drivers and others are alleged to have been informing tourists of this way of getting liquor on cheap permits.

Walter Butterworth of Vancouver is to-day gazetted notary public until Oct. 11.

William Herbert Kelly, of Vancouver, inspector under the Amusement Tax Act, has been empowered to take affidavits.

WOULD KEEP OUT CANADIAN CATTLE

Farming Interests of Britain Offer Opposition

London, Sept. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Intention on the part of the agricultural interests of England to continue the fight against the admission of Canadian cattle into Great Britain was strongly expressed again yesterday by Lord Bledisloe, chairman of the Federation of County Agricultural Committees and of the Government's Central Agricultural Advisory Council. Lord Bledisloe said that the raising of the embargo, as recommended by the recent report, would strike a serious blow at the embargo, had developed to be the backbone of the agricultural industry of the country.

DATE OF KRASSIN'S VISIT TO CANADA NOT STATED YET

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Officials of the Department of Trade and Commerce here have not yet received advice as to when Leon Krassin, Russian Soviet Foreign Trade Commissioner, will visit Canada.

Krassin, in a recent interview in Berlin, stated he would shortly visit this country with a view to opening trade in agricultural machinery, wine, tobacco and furs. Canadian wheat, he said, might also find a market in Russia.

Vancouver Liquor Fine To Be Subject of Appeal

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Deciding that the Gold Seal Liquor Company, Limited, had violated the provisions of the Government Liquor Act by selling liquor in British Columbia, Magistrate Shaw this morning found the company guilty and imposed a fine of $1,000. The decision will be appealed and the case taken to a higher court.

The prosecution was launched on a charge that the company took orders here and delivered the goods from the Vancouver warehouse. The defence was that orders taken here were forwarded to Calgary and the office in the Alberta City, having accepted them, telegraphed them back to the Western Canada Liquor Company, a subsidiary company here, which completed the transaction by delivering the goods. The company maintained that the orders were dealt with outside the Province by that method.

HUNGER STRIKER PAUSED, BUT IS STRIKING AGAIN

Lethbridge, Alta., Sept. 22.—Captain Janney, after being virtually awarded his freedom yesterday on a nominal $100 bail, is again hunger striking. He refuses to take the food offered him at the hospital, and the alarm is felt over his condition. The authorities can offer no explanation of his conduct in starting his strike a second time.

Splendid Attendance On Public Holiday at Exhibition Grounds

With a paid admission of approximately ten thousand adults, yesterday's record of attendance at the Agricultural Exhibition exceeded by a handsome margin all records of previous years.

The remarkable point about yesterday's Citizen's Day attendance was the continuance of the dense crowding right up to the closing hour. As late as ten o'clock all the buildings were so filled with interested visitors as to make progress a matter of taking one's turn, two orderly lines traveling at a snail's pace around the aisles in the buildings.

Home Spinners Score.
Arrangements have been made by the ladies demonstrating home spinning and weaving in the Women's Building for an unusual display this afternoon and evening of the official courtesy of H. Smith, in charge of Dr. O. H. Patrick's flock of Karakul and Persian sheep, a fleece of each variety was last night given the ladies.

By working until the small hours of this morning the ladies were able to scour and dry a sufficient quantity of the wool to stage a demonstration to-day, and as a result Victorians will witness the first hand spinning of Persian rug materials to take place upon the North American continent.

The ladies co-operating with Mrs. Dennis Harris are Mrs. Cooksey, Miss Macpherson and others, and when Mr. Smith offered to supply the spinners with some forty pounds of wool if they would, during the coming winter, work it up to completed samples, they accepted with alacrity, even before the Patrick representative was able to complete his offer, that the samples resulting should accompany the flock on next year's tour in Canada, as a demonstration of the possibilities within the reach of home weavers.

HUNGARIANS WISH TO KEEP ODENBURG

British Agent Discusses Burgenland With Them

Budapest, Sept. 22.—Baron Newton, of the British Foreign Office, who is negotiating informally with the Hungarian Government for a compromise of the West Hungarian situation, where the disturbances are approaching anarchy, has been informed that the basis of the Hungarian proposals is to keep Odenburg and hand over to Austria the remainder of West Hungary.

Alarming news is in circulation here that the Hungarian Government has been preparing to make a dash for the Burgenland situation, to-day reported to the Cabinet the result of his mission. He said Central Europe was full of hate and rancor, and a race against another. The Little Entente was not satisfied with the attitude of the Allied Powers in permitting Hungary to violate for so long the Treaty of Trianon.

Italy, it was said to-day, had succeeded in preventing armed intervention in the disturbed area, but she was particularly concerned over supporting the opposition of the Little Entente to the restoration of the monarchy.

RAILWAY ROAD TRANSPORT FIGHT

New Shipping Development in United Kingdom

London, Sept. 22.—(Canadian Press)—While railway circles point out that any reduction in freight rates now proposed is likely to affect only classes of commodities least carried by the motor transport companies and therefore in no way constitute a challenge to the road companies, it is believed that a fight with road freight transport is bound to come sooner or later.

The main fight between the opponents probably will take place in Parliament when the railway companies seek to regularize their position regarding their own use of road transport, in respect to which they encountered a check in the House of Commons last July.

Riga, Sept. 22.—The Soviet Government has declined to authorize the entry into Riga of the American W. Ryan, American Red Cross Commissioner to the Baltic states, on the grounds that he collaborated in the provisioning of the anti-Bolshevik army of General Yudenitch in 1919.

SIR JOHN SIMON LAUDS CANADA

Is Back in London After His Tour

London, Sept. 22.—(Canadian Press)—Sir John Simon, on returning to London after his visit to Canada, expressed himself to the Canadian Press as full of enthusiasm for Canada and her people. His stay across the Atlantic had been delightful, he said.

Sir John begged to be excused, however, when asked as to his views concerning the Canadian attitude toward the question of legal appeals to the Privy Council in London. He said he did not feel disposed to discuss this subject.

It will be remembered that on his return from Canada last year, Lord Cave, of the Court of Appeals gave an extensive account of his impressions of the matter of Canadian appeals to the Privy Council, and much lively discussion was thereby provoked.

ISLAND POSSESSES BEST CATTLE ENTRY

Holstein Princess From Chermains Wins Generous Praise

At the conclusion of the judging of the cattle entries at the Exhibition was generally admitted by the majority of the estimators that, had there been an award for the most remarkable animal in the show, irrespective of breed or sex, it would have been awarded without a doubt to the "Tausie Princess" of the Bonsall herd from Chermains.

Even those interested in particular other breeds or breeds agreed that this magnificent specimen of the Holstein family was their second choice, and the display of championship badges hanging overhead showed that the judges at the three allied states of the breed who have run above 30,000 pounds in a year's test, yet her 21,000 pounds, with 920 pounds of butter, would be esteemed even were it obtained from a cow without her magnificent breed lines, as it is well known that heavy milkers are rarely show animals and it is not often that ideal show animals are such heavy milkers, as is the Bonsall cow.

It is claimed that "Tausie Princess" is the perfect type of Holstein, a rare combination with milking ability, and while her record at the fair is not to be compared with her allied sisters of the breed who have run above 30,000 pounds in a year's test, yet her 21,000 pounds, with 920 pounds of butter, would be esteemed even were it obtained from a cow without her magnificent breed lines, as it is well known that heavy milkers are rarely show animals and it is not often that ideal show animals are such heavy milkers, as is the Bonsall cow.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Bush Mines.
Grant Mahood, while doing work on the Bush property, struck a large body of high grade ore. The company, which owns this property, the Bush Mines, Limited, did considerable work some time ago, consisting of two tunnels and several open cuts. In driving the tunnels they apparently mistook the dip of the lead for the strike, with the result they had not gone far when they ran out of the ore. Mr. Mahood, who is one of the large owners in the company, was of the opinion that this is what happened; therefore he has recently been up at the property trying out his hunch by driving three crosscut tunnels, two in No. 1 and one in No. 2 tunnels. The first crosscut he ran in from near the portal of No. 1, and had not gone far with this before he encountered the lead. "He then went into the face of the tunnel about 150-foot distant and ran another crosscut, and again got his ore. From here he went down to No. 2 tunnel, from where he ran another crosscut, in which he again picked up the lead. This work showed the lead to be ten feet wide, and that it retained the high grade silver values obtained on the surface.—Portland Canal News.

COAL CITY NEWS.

Nanaimo, B. C., Sept. 21.—Nanaimo dogs made a good showing at the New Westminster Exhibition. In the wire-haired fox terrier class, Messrs. Kneen and Pearson, proprietors of the Kerby Kennels, with Kerby Orphan Girl, took three firsts—in puppy, limit, and open classes. Their Kerby Challenger took first in puppy and limit classes. The two dogs being held as reserve winners to Merston Bantam, which was judged the best dog in the show, all breeds. In the novice class Kerby Niba took first, and Kerby Wire Boy ranked second in the limit class. Kerby Challenger was adjudged the best Canadian bred dog in the show, while Kerby Orphan Girl made the best brace of terriers in the show.

Among the collies, Charles Thompson won first prize in the limit and open classes with Lochabar Lady Betty. Harry Shepherd's dog took first in the open class for curly coated retrievers. Messrs. Kneen and Pearson also are in receipt of a very gratifying letter regarding the performance of a dog they bred in their kennels, and sold some time ago to an American dog fancier. The dog was known as Miss Flip, but its new owner changed it to Shadwell Melody. This dog was shown in Hamilton, Mass., and carried off the Challenge Cup for the best dog in the show in the fox terrier breed. She also made the highest number of points made by a dog of her breed on the American Continent. Since the show the dog has been sold, the purchase price being $3,000.

Messrs. Robert Adam and W. McDonald were appointed examiners for football referees by the B. C. F. A. in their meeting held here recently. An increasing demand for telephone stations here has caused an enormous amount of overhead cables to be installed. The B. C. Telephone Company have decided to remedy this by carrying out extensive alterations on many of the main streets. These streets are to have the overhead cables put in conduit and placed under the pavement. The contract for this work has been placed in the hands of Messrs. Scott and Anderson, experienced men, who have done such repairs in Vancouver.

COWICHAN CHAPTER MEETS.

Duncan, Sept. 21.—The Cowichan Chapter, O. D. E. held the first monthly meeting since the Summer holidays in the Cowichan Women's Institute rooms on Tuesday afternoon. The regent, Mrs. P. Price, was in the chair. The treasurer reported a good financial standing, and plans for a definite work for the coming season were brought forward and discussed, but nothing could be settled owing to the small number present. On account of the bad weather, presumably, only eight members were present. It is urgent that more attend the next meeting so that this matter can be satisfactorily decided upon. Plans for bringing the members together in a friendly way were brought forward and it was thought a social evening once a month might prove popular. Mrs. Spurrier, Mrs. Swan and Mrs. Watson were appointed a committee to arrange these.

CANTEN FUND.

In a statement printed elsewhere in this issue the Provincial Organizer of the Great War Veterans' Association defends the attitude of the Dominion Government in its decision to dispose of the profits accrued from the canteen business of the Canadian Expeditionary Force through the agency of this particular ex-service men's organization. The official in question supports his arguments with a convincing recital of the excellent work which has been carried out in behalf of the returned man and his dependents by the body in whose existence he is chiefly concerned. With such a record in mind it is only natural that he should consider the G. W. V. A. especially and peculiarly well equipped to continue and enlarge the scope of its interest in the welfare of every former member of the C. E. F. who may need it.

It will be recalled that upon previous occasions we have referred in highly complimentary terms to the humanitarian work to which the Great War Veterans' Association has engaged itself. The extent to which it has carried out its self-imposed task and the success with which it has been attended may be gleaned from a glance at the statement of the British Columbia Organizer. It is entitled to the highest possible praise from the people of this Dominion because as a result of its intervention in behalf of the rank and file of returned men it has won for them a more appropriate recognition of their services and subsequent condition. And it can be readily understood that the G. W. V. A. is not concerned about an applicant's antecedents or club membership when it is faced with an appeal for legitimate aid.

In spite of the statement referred to we are still of the opinion that there are many members of the Great War Veterans' Association itself who would prefer the canteen profits either to be distributed among the various returned men's organizations in proportion to membership or placed in the hands of some such body as the Red Cross in order that the excellent work accomplished by the country's oldest ex-service association might be continued and amplified. It is undoubtedly the general wish that future ministrations should have practical regard for cases where immediate relief is necessary; but it is also recognized that for years to come funds will be even more urgently required to deal with those cases which are not and presumably never will be provided for by legal enactment.

It is hardly to be expected that the Great War Veterans' Association would feel inclined to undertake an enterprise case—commonly known as the exceptional and unprovided for case—on a similar line to that established by the Red Cross in this and other cities. For that reason we are of the opinion that either an amalgamated returned men's organization, representative of all the ex-service men in the country who are sufficiently concerned to take an active interest in its work, should undertake the whole of the responsibility for the cases not contemplated by the statute law of the country; or else there should be a division of activity between itself and, for instance, the Red Cross by which temporary and permanent aid could be assured. Our point is based solely upon principle and in support of a popular desire that the disabled man who is compelled to rub along as best he can shall not be forgotten.

ECONOMY OR CAUSE?

British justice is based upon the principle that a man is innocent until he is proven guilty. It recognizes a right to hear both sides of a question before its full measure may be dispensed. At Tuesday night's meeting of the Police Commissioners several officers of the law were informed that their services would not be required after the end of the year. One Commissioner supported his action by explaining the economy that would be effected. Another commissioner took pains to inform the audience that he intended to "get" the men involved. Both attributed their programme to the dictates of conscience and a desire to serve the best interests of the people. The Mayor disagreed with the whole plan and the Chief of Police found it impossible to agree with the majority sentiment of the Board. An influential section of commercial Victoria and organized Labor appear to hold the view that there was no necessity to ignore the traditional practices of British justice. It only remains to suggest that either the dismissals were influenced by the need for economy or they were the result of some information in possession of one or two members of the tribunal. The taxpayers have a right to know what the reasons are. If a charge has been laid its details belong to the public and the men involved have a right to be heard.

RUSSIA'S ISOLATION.

It is very doubtful if Mr. Lloyd George actually believed that a trade agreement with Russia would result in the immediate cessation of Soviet propaganda in those parts of the British Empire likely to provide good seedling ground. But the fact that it has been found necessary to send a sharply worded note to Moscow does not detract from the importance of the British Government's action in restoring such commercial relations between Great Britain and Russia as may be carried on under existing conditions. It is distinctly unfortunate—for Russia in particular—that the few misguided zealots which still cling to the crazy belief that Sovietism can be spread all over the world have not been restrained by a pact into which the pseudo-representative Government solemnly entered a few months ago. But another factor has entered into the relations which exist between Soviet Russia and the outside world. Millions of people are craving for food. The aged patriarch Tikhon has called to the Christian churches everywhere and aid is being sent with all speed. The unnatural barriers that have so long isolated the country are gradually being removed because the newest tragedy among the Russian people has brought back the affection for the prodigal among the frozen hearts of kindred. After all Russia lies helpless as the result of a long war followed by civil strife and the doctrinaire fanaticism of the Moscow regime. And another argument in favor of ending the long quarrel and the long refusal of diplomatic relations, outside of the appeal of the moment, is this very propaganda to which the British Government has just paid heed. One commentator already has argued that the fear of Russia, of Bolshevism in all its shapes, is really the bogey behind the armaments of Europe and particularly behind the militant policy of France and her munitioning of Poland and Rumania. It may thus be assumed that as long as Russia is cut off this fear will grow upon what it feeds and very probably invoke counter measures in Russia. Here is a question that must sooner or later appeal to the Supreme Council even if the Red Army does not form a subject at the forthcoming disarmament conference.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Although the choice which this country offers at the present time is somewhat limited it is interesting to observe in a dispatch from Calgary that the people of Alberta have been told by no less a literary luminary than Mr. William Slavens McNutt that the liquor system adopted by this Province is the best in Canada and would be much more popular in the United States than the existing liquor laws. With quite a number of people on the other side of the international boundary Mr. McNutt's suggestion for a statutory enactment on similar lines to those of the Liquor Control Act of British Columbia will be instantly popular. In the meantime he can tell his many readers of the things in this Province which were not provided for the holidaymaker by an Act of Parliament.

Announcement that hostilities between Jugo-Slav and Albanians have broken out has startled the League of Nations Assembly. Possibly Nationalist Turkey and Greece could be persuaded to admit these two new factions and give them a chance to settle their quarrel with the one mess.

NOTE AND COMMENT

TRAVEL OF THE FUTURE.

(London Daily Mail.) In the construction of aeroplanes great progress has been made in simplification and standardization and it is not suggested that the limit in either direction has been reached. There is a persistent advance towards the attainment of those ideal conditions under which flying will become a successful commercial competitor with every other form of passenger transport.

THE ANTIS' PARADISE.

(St. Paul Pioneer-Press.) America surely is a land of opportunity in more ways than one. Here anyone who desires to found a league, society or club with "Anti" as a prefix to its name is sure to succeed. We have such a variety of good folks among us that there are always to be found a respectable number who are against something or other. Forming a league to spread their views is a harmless diversion as a rule and tends to keep the members out of mischief generally.

DRINNAN STATES WORK OF G.W.V.A.

Provincial Organizer Deals With Canteen Funds Disbursements

Discussion at the meeting of ex-service men last Friday, when amalgamation was under review, concentrated largely on the action of the Government in turning over to the G. W. V. A. the canteen funds for disbursement. Walter Drinnan, provincial organizer of the Great War Veterans' Association, pointed out that the G. W. V. A. is the only national organization of ex-service men possessing branches in every province, and consequently the necessary machinery to operate in the interests of all ex-service men.

In a statement to The Times Mr. Drinnan pointed out that the service of the G. W. V. A. has been open to all, whether members of the association or not. He declared that the G. W. V. A. can render service not possible to the Red Cross Society.

He proceeded to say: "Relief funds have been established in almost all of the branches through membership dues and voluntary contributions, and the relief has been given with equal generosity to members and to non-members. To cite one specific case I would refer to the Victoria branch which presented a winter fund during the past winter and as a result of its action is practically without funds to continue its existence. It gave not merely until it hurt, but until it practically killed the branch—in the service of all comrades not merely of the G. W. V. A."

"The three months post discharge pay was obtained by the organization which ultimately became the G. W. V. A., and the extension of this sum to that of six months gratuity was the result of the G. W. V. A. action."

"The Soldier's Settlement Board came into existence as the result of G. W. V. A. representation. The information upon which the Parliamentary Commission has based its findings has been obtained through the G. W. V. A., and while all these findings are not according to the desire of the organization, the beneficial measures put into effect resulted from advice given by the G. W. V. A."

"The increase of clothing allowance from $5 to $55 is another G. W. V. A. victory."

"The equalization of gratuity to Imperial was the direct result of G. W. V. A. effort."

"The refund of passage money to dependents who returned prior to Armistice was brought about solely by the energy and determination of the G. W. V. A."

"The payment of gratuities to dependents of fallen is another benefit secured and which does not affect members of the G. W. V. A. personally."

"The increase of S. C. R. allowance was assured on representation of G. W. V. A."

"Preference of veterans in civil service appointments was secured by G. W. V. A."

"Establishment of Government Labor Bureau affecting all unemployed men."

"Opening up of desirable tracts of land for soldier settlers."

"The soldiers' insurance scheme that allows all disabled service men who cannot secure insurance with regular insurance companies to protect their families against unnecessary distress is the direct result of G. W. V. A. action."

"The increase of pensions from $25 for widows to $60 including bonus, plus allowance for children and a proportional increase on all pensionable disabilities was secured by the G. W. V. A. and as the result of determined effort on the part of the Housing Regulations. "Housing legislation which enables returned men to secure their own houses by means of a loan was another work of the G. W. V. A."

"Innumerable provincial enactments have also been secured by the G. W. V. A."

"Millions of dollars have been recovered by the G. W. V. A. for dependents and returned men after individual efforts and the efforts of other organizations had proved to be in vain."

"These are a few reasons why our organization is entitled to consideration in the disbursement of the canteen profits," he concluded.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1921.
(Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This is a most auspicious day, according to astrology. Saturn, the Sun and Jupiter are all in benefic aspect. In the evening Mars is adverse.

All who are depending on appointments or promotions should make the most of this day's opportunities, for they will find those who wield influence ready to dispense favors.

The Sun gives fair promise to those who seek employment and especially to all who have executive ability.

Heads of educational institutions should benefit during this configuration which makes for development of fine ambitions and inspires subordinates with a desire for the best co-operation.

Colleges will meet with many problems and co-educational institutions will be embarrassed by the number of young women who gain prominence in their studies and seemingly outstrip the men.

The stars declare that 1921 is to be a remarkably favorable year to the ambitions of women, but first they will learn lessons that are severe tests.

Warnings have been repeatedly given by those who read the stars that women must eliminate many old-time habits of thought and action before they succeed in public positions.

Again the stars foretell supreme honors for women who will occupy the seats of the mighty.

The evening of this day may be exceedingly trying, for Mars provokes quarrels and gives dominance to physical rather than intellectual forces.

The influence of the planet supposed to encourage war will continue to be felt in the growth of immorality and the prevalence of grosser impulses.

Runners of possible war will be circulated at this time, but they may mean nothing except as they are a reflex of disarming agitation.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of an active and successful year. Children born on this day may be quick-tempered and imaginative. These subjects of Libra are generally prosperous.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Dr. Milne, Senator McInnes, and Mr. McInnes, M. P., have been invited to dine with Hon. Mr. Laurier to-night.

Steps have been taken by the Consolidated Railway Company to have the Tramway Regulation by-law, recently passed by the Council, set aside. A rule nisi was issued by the Chief Justice yesterday, calling for argument to be heard on Saturday.

POLITICS

Straw Man Tariff.
Intelligent Ladies.
Your Votes Are Needed.
Can Women Be Herded?
No Questions, Please, About Our Past.
Bristol Heroics.

No matter what the declared Liberal policy is on the tariff, no matter how much Liberal speakers repeat that they are not out for free trade and despite the record of the Liberal party in maintaining a tariff for revenue and protection during the sixteen years it was in office, Premier Meighen has decided that the election is to be fought on the tariff, and the tariff only, with no questions, please, about the Government and its record.

The idea is that as the Government stands for the extreme of a protective tariff, the Liberal opposition must necessarily be at the other extreme and therefore satisfied with nothing less than all-round free trade.

Liberal speakers declare that the tariff is not an issue and that Mr. Meighen in thus trying to shield his Government from criticism of all that has been going on in this country since the end of the war will not succeed.

There are too many things and people are not satisfied with and for which the Government will have to bear the responsibility.

But, there is only one hope apparently, and so it is on the tariff that the Meighen forces have already gone forth to battle in the industrial centres of the East.

In this fight, they have set out to appeal to the women of the country to save the Government by coming to its assistance, as they did in 1917.

It is Edmund Bristol, brilliant young lawyer and politician of the old Tory school, just taken into the Cabinet, who has been entrusted with the delicate task of playing on the instinct of the women for the welfare of their own hearths and turning it against the opposition party, just as their patriotism was successfully appealed to in 1917. He has started on his job already and his methods of swinging the woman vote of the country are being set forth as models for other Government campaigners.

Cultured Mr. Bristol has a certain estimation of the ability of Canadian women to discriminate in politics with which leaders in the women's movement are not likely to agree.

How he has set out to handle the women of Toronto and to herd them in behind the Government on the tariff issue which does not exist, is indicated in the opening speech of his campaign.

He says, in other words, of course, "No questions, ladies please, about the record of our Government."

And then he commences: "Do you want your husbands, sons and brothers to be out of employment on account of the free trade policy of the Liberal and the Farmer parties, or do you want to see once more the busy factories which are certain to follow in the wake of a decided policy of protection for the industries of Canada?"

"In the hands of the women of Canada now rests to a large extent the fate of the nation. There is nothing else which really matters so far as this election is concerned but the question of the tariff."

"It is upon the tariff alone that the fate of Canada rests, and I have great confidence that the women of the Dominion will appreciate that the thing of prime importance to them is to see to it that their men are not thrust upon the streets, among the ranks of the unemployed, to become the objects of charity, which the Liberal and the Farmer parties would make them.

"I appeal to the women that they should display that courageous spirit which they showed during the election of 1917, when they took their hearts in their hands and said that their men must go to war to save the nation and the world."

MICHAEL CLARK AGAINST THE GROUP GOVERNMENT PLAN

Calgary, Sept. 22.—Group government was not one of the policies on which Dr. Michael Clark, M. P., for Red Deer, supported Hon. T. A. Crerar, Progressive leader, according to a letter from Dr. Clark made public here, in answer to the most recent letter he received from Mr. Crerar. Dr. Clark, in his letter, sought to show that the Farmer party is looking for support on grounds that sooner or later will lead to the disruption of the movement.

"You honestly seem to me to be unconscious of what is really a great national peril," the letter said in part. "You say the question I have raised is one of organization rather than policy. It is necessary to have an economic interest on which to found a group. The inevitable conclusion from this is that the group is in politics for the express purpose of pressing its own economic interests. This is the very thing of which you say Canada has had too much in the past, and to which you are unalterably opposed."

"In the recent election in Alberta it is beyond doubt that farmers were canvassed for by the Farmer party on the ground that the return of a Farmer Government would result in the increase of the price of farm produce. It is very ridiculous of course, and disillusionment will be swift and certain, but it is necessary to show the workings of the 'economic interest' idea."

An illustration in a wider field is found in the political position of the Grain Growers' Grain Co. published in this last week, that a gentleman's agreement exists between the Independent Labor Party and the Farmer party, which would add to the law on the tariff, according to the

VERSATILITY OF WOMEN'S ACTIVITY SHOWN AT FAIR

One year ago yesterday there was born in Victoria an industry which has displayed in its first year an amazing growth and vitality and which even at the early stage shows promise of becoming one of the leading industries of British Columbia. This is the carding, spinning and weaving of wool which has its inception in the clever and artistic hands of Mrs. Dennis Harris, who has pioneered the industry through all the difficult days attendant upon any new reform, and is now beginning to see the fruits of her untiring efforts.

Practical evidence of the development of this art is seen in the Women's Building at the Provincial Exhibition, where the wool exhibit is attracting hundreds of visitors. Americans particularly are delighted with the demonstration of weaving and have expressed eagerness to obtain the finished products. In fact the majority of the customers supporting the industry have come from the country of the Sons of the Border, where hand-made products are in great demand.

Five Spinners. Including Mrs. Dennis Harris, Miss Effie McPherson and Mrs. Brethour, busy at their spinning-wheels yesterday, the apparent magic by which the yarn took shape under their deft fingers proving fascinating to the big crowd of onlookers. This comprehensive exhibit also included a beautiful length of tweed, soft mattresses filled with the British Columbia wool instead of a cheap mixture of wool and cotton, crocheted wool lace of a cobwebby fineness, stockings and golf hose, and other articles which suggest the infinite possibilities of this home-manufactured product.

Goat and Rabbit Wool. Since the industry was first launched it has branched out into various phases undreamed of by its originator. The softest and loveliest of Angora wool has been woven from the hair of the Angora goats, bred by Mrs. Cheatham, while Mrs. McVickers, of Prospect Lake, has experimented with equal success with the fur of Angora rabbits. Rabbits, too, are responsible for a new cottage industry which threatens to encroach on the field hitherto considered the happy hunting grounds of the farmer. Mrs. McVickers has started a farm for the breeding of black Siberian and Blue Flemish rabbits and is utilizing their skins in the manufacture of beautifully warm motor rugs and ladies' furs.

Fine Taxidermy. If more proof were needed to show the versatility of women's interests and activities it would be found in the wonderful display of taxidermy exhibited by Mrs. W. H. Staveley of Gordon Head. In a natural setting representing a woodland copse, she is exhibiting a collection including specimens of most of the wild bird life of Vancouver Island, stuffed and mounted in lifelike attitudes, while on the beach in the foreground, is seen a starfish and various kinds of shells. Mrs. Staveley took up taxidermy as a hobby some years ago and has developed it to a remarkable extent, doing her own trapping and shooting and undertaking all the multifarious details of the work unaided.

Women's Institutes. Some disappointment has been expressed at the lack of interest shown by the Women's Institutes, only two, Strawberry Valley and Lake Hill, have collective exhibits, although many institute members have made individual entries in other sections. The two Institutes mentioned, however, are serving the purpose of the value of these media for the encouragement of a community effort. Samples of canning and preserving, home cooking, needlework and photography are shown in excellent array.

The remainder of the women's section is given over to plain and fancy needlework, home cooking, preserving and canning, while an unusually interesting section is the rag rugs made by ladies over sixty. Beautiful lace and crochet work, embroidery, "hardanger" work, and drawn work is also shown.

Tea-Rooms. In the Women's Building is also housed the tea-room conducted in the basement by the King's Daughters, while the upper floor is occupied by the Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral, which is serving teas and light refreshments throughout the week.

FORMER VICTORIAN DIES AT NELSON

Mrs. A. E. Sherlock, a former resident of Victoria, and member of a well-known Victorian family, who had been residing in Nelson for the past eighteen years, passed away at midnight Saturday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. A. D. McFarland, 715 Robson Street, Nelson. She had been in poor health for some time, but her final illness was only three days in duration.

Mrs. Sherlock was born at Mount Elgin, Ont., and was the daughter of the late E. V. Rodwell, chief accountant for the government during the construction of the C. P. R. in British Columbia, and the second sister of the late well known King's counsel of Victoria, E. V. Rodwell. She was educated at Angela College, Victoria, and was married in 1887 to Harry Sherlock, of Dublin, Ireland, who died some years later in South Africa.

Since 1903 she resided in Nelson. Mrs. Sherlock was deeply interested in library work, and for many years was on the library board before that institution became a municipal undertaking. She is survived by one brother, Frank V. Rodwell, of Caulfield, near Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. A. P. McFarland, and Mrs. Leslie Crauford, both of Nelson.

JUBILEE HOSPITAL GRADUATE MARRIED

Miss Hazel McDonald Wed in Vancouver to American

A popular graduate of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, who later saw overseas service and was for a time on the nursing staff of the Requim Military Hospital, was married in Vancouver on Tuesday evening, when Miss Hazel Bell McDonald, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McDonald, of Vancouver Heights, became the bride of Mr. Robert Kellogg Wheeler of Great Barrington, Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of cream charmeuse satin and Brussels lace, the graceful veil being held in place by clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bridal roses and wore the gift of the groom, a platinum-and-sapphire bar pin. The ceremony, which was performed by Dr. A. M. Sanford of Columbia College, New Westminster, took place beneath an effective canopy of Autumn leaves, asters and dahlias. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Lyman McDonald.

Miss Verna McDonald, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a dress of pink brocaded silk and a large hat of georgette crepe. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and mauve orchids. The groom was assisted by W. Alan Sutton.

After the ceremony a reception was held when Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler received the congratulations and good wishes of their many friends, following which a buffet supper was served from a flower-decked table presided over by Mrs. Victor Odium. Mrs. A. McDonald and Mrs. Fred McGregor, assisting in the dining-room were Miss Lucy Woodrow, Miss Adene Sutton, Miss Isabel Slade and Miss Dorothy Odium.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler left for Los Angeles and New York en route for their future home in Great Barrington.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold zar-pin set with pearls and olivines and to the bridesmaid a handsome pair of gold cuff-links.

Mrs. Angus McDonald, mother of the groom, wore a handsome gown of amethyst-brocaded satin, and of Venetian lace, while the bride's sister, who assisted Mrs. McDonald in receiving the guests, was attired in a lovely dress of black lace.

Mr. Fox gets the worst of it

Mr. Fox was not very fond of cherries, but he thought such fine ones as he saw on the tree under which he stood were too nice to be passed by, but Mr. Fox was not nimble at climbing; in fact, he did not know how to climb a tree.

While he stood looking up at the cherries along came Mr. Coon, who would as soon travel through the wood by jumping from tree to tree as to walk on the ground.

"What you looking at, Mr. Fox, sour grapes?" he asked.

"Mr. Fox is somewhat touchy on that subject, but he knows if he got those cherries he would need the help of Mr. Coon, so he smothered his anger and said smilingly, 'No, not grapes this time, Mr. Coon, but fine big cherries.'

"I, of course, cannot climb, but you are such an expert that it will be no trouble for you to run up and pick some for me."

Mr. Coon, being a good-natured fellow, said he would, and thinking also that he might find a nest of bees or wasps at the same time, for though he did not mind eating cherries he was very fond of the other things.

He threw down the cherries, and when Mr. Fox had enough he decided that he would punish Mr. Coon for mentioning those sour grapes.

The fact that Mr. Coon had been obliging and picked the cherries for him did not matter at all to the grumpy Mr. Fox.

He saw a limb that was very slender and at the end hung two very large red cherries. By asking Mr. Coon to get those cherries he was sure he would fall to the ground, for the limb would be certain to snap. Under the tree was a big flat stone and while Mr. Coon wore a thick coat, if he struck on a rock he would be sure to feel it, and then he will know how it hurts me when he mentions those sour grapes," he mused to himself, "for when he lands I will just mention the fact to him before I run off home."

Mr. Fox pointed to the big cherries, but what he did not see was a nest of wasps just over them. Mr. Coon did, however, and he had no intention of picking the cherries. It was the nest he was after as he crept along.

He was so quick about getting it that before Mr. Fox saw what was happening and could run, the nest was on the ground and the angry wasps were flying about.

Mr. Coon came down the tree, but it was Mr. Fox the Wasps blamed for destroying their home, and after him they went.

He ran for the river to get rid of his tormentors, and had to swim under water part of the way, for angry wasps will chase an enemy a long distance.

"Now, I wonder if he did that on purpose," thought Mr. Fox. "Did he think I was trying to get him on the little limb of the tree so he would fall and knock down the wasp nest to pay me for trying to play that trick, or did he really want the nest?"

Mr. Fox's thoughts were so tangled up thinking about it that he finally gave it up and decided that the sour grape story did not hurt him nearly as much as did the sting of those angry wasps. But still he did wonder about Mr. Coon, if he really did what that wasp nest, but he never found out.

It was a busy day for Mrs. Houck, wardrobe mistress at the Thomas H. Ince studios in California, when she got word that she was to provide costumes for six of King Neptune's satellites and a bunch of mermaids for "Lying Lips," the second Ince production. Especially was she concerned about the satellites, for they had neglected to tell her to which six they belonged.

"But," said a little wide-eyed girl who assists with the costume making, "I thought satellites were always ladies."

Anyway the costumes were forthcoming and the glittering, beading things shown forth in amazing candor in the big ball room scene in which a high society swimming party is featured. Mermaids, King Neptune and attendants, pretty girls in the smartest and most exceedingly ultra of bathing suits are revealed in the wild revel of fun. Practically the whole force of the Ince Studio was on the lot watching when the scene was made. A penny orchestra played for three days and everybody was one-stepping and fox-trotting. There were girls in satin bathing suits and some in chiffon-trimmed with artificial flowers. But old King Neptune cared not. "In with them," he would shout, and his husky retainers forth with cast delectable, wriggling, screaming bundles of satin and chiffon into the water.

House Peters and Florence Vidor are starred in "Lying Lips," which was written by May Edington and adapted to the screen by Bradley King. John Griffith Way directed under personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

PICTURE REVERTS

TO TWO REELS

Motion Picture Magazine Discusses Changed Conditions

Recalling the earliest days of the motion picture when two reels were considered much too long for any picture, Herbert Howe, in the September number of Motion Picture Magazine, discusses the return of the two-reel picture. He says that in the early days of the industry, when the picture was a novelty, the two-reel picture was the only one that could be shown in a theatre. But as the industry grew, the picture became a regular feature, and the two-reel picture was no longer considered a novelty. The magazine says that the two-reel picture is now being shown in many theatres, and that it is being well received by the audience.

Looking Backward.
"So it was with a heavy and dubious heart that I went to Selig-Rork studios to review the return of the oldest of all pictures—the two-reel drama. I say the oldest of all. That is not correct. There was a time when the producer who made a two-reel drama considered a gambler. Then, the picture was a novelty, and the producer who made a two-reel drama was considered a gambler. Now, the picture is a regular feature, and the producer who makes a two-reel drama is considered a gambler."

"Colonel Selig was one of the first, not the first, producer to venture into the realm of the mastodon. He made 'The Holy City' in 1907 as a two-reel drama, but the exhibitors could not see it as a feature for one night. It went forth as a two-reel drama, and the exhibitors who saw it were the first to see it as a feature. The picture was a novelty, and the exhibitors who saw it were the first to see it as a feature."

Quarter Century Old.
"I had not idea, the motion picture was so old until Colonel Selig whispered his real age to me. Like her stars, the screen is today about her years. According to the flyleaf of Colonel Selig's book, he has had his twenty-fifth birthday this year. The Colonel commenced making moving pictures of fifty to 100 feet in 1896. They consisted of such exciting plots as a girl feeding chickens and a train wreck. The most popular classic of this size was a picture of a girl feeding chickens."

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Nothing wrong, I hope?" "No, but I'm a bit tired," I said. "That's all right," he said. "I'm a bit tired, too. I've been working hard for the last three days. What's up? You look as if you were about to drop."

"Have you seen Mr. Faversham?" "I haven't seen him, sir—not for the last day or two. I was wondering what had become of him, so regular he comes in as a rule."

"Yes, yes, I know," Tranter moved away mechanically. He looked ill, the porter thought. After a second he followed him.

"Have you tried his room, sir?" he asked. "I haven't," Tranter said. "I'll go and see if he's there."

"I have tried," I've been round. He's not there."

watermelon contest—the first droolings of drama.

Some Famous Subjects.

"After experimenting with 'The Holy City,' the Colonel went back to one-reelers. In that brief space of time was told the story of 'The Count of Monte Cristo,' 'The Two Cities,' 'East Lyna' and 'A Tale of Two Cities.'"

"It was in 1914 that 'The Spoilers' was produced in nine reels. From the time the two-reel picture was forgotten and not until 1921 did it enjoy a renaissance."

"Naturally, it was not easy to induce directors and actors of high reputation to make drama. And Messrs. Selig and Rork knew that it required supernatural agencies to raise the favorite from the dead. They finally secured Bertram Bracken as director. From the shelves of the great film library at the Selig plant, Mr. Bracken selected 'The Policeman and the Baby,' a comedy drama, and 'The Northern Trail,' a tragedy, by James Oliver Curwood, as the first of the series. For these he secured players of repute: William Desmond, Lewis Stone, Ethel Grey Terry, Wallace Berry, Elinor Fair and Margaret Landis.

Sense of Limitation.

"Director Bracken has negotiated the return of the two-reel in a

"If you were only coming, too," she said wistfully, "how long will it be before you come?"

He hesitated, his eyes searching her face.

"I'll write to you," he said, evasively. He wondered what she would say, what she would do, if he answered, that if it rested with him and had been kind, but now, that he meant this to be the beginning of the end.

But something in him cried out against it. She was a woman, and weak in spite of the havoc she had wrought in the lives of men other than himself, and at the last moment, just as the train was moving slowly from the platform, he laid his hand on hers as it rested on the handwork of the open window.

"Don't look so sad," he said, "any one would think that I am sending you into eternal exile."

"I feel as if you are," she answered, trying to smile.

"The train-gathered speed, and he had to fall back."

He caught a momentary last glimpse of her lovely face, and the long floating ends of the grey veil she wore. Then a puff of swirling smoke swept down and all around like a cloud and she was gone.

It was about six o'clock that evening that Tranter walked into the club, which he had just left. He was both members and let the door swing to violently behind him as he strode across the room to where Parry was half-asleep in a deep chair by the fire.

He woke him by roughly shaking his shoulders.

"Where's Faversham? Have you seen Miles? Or where's Faversham?"

"Has he been here? Has any one seen him?"

Parry yawned and sat up, shaking his head.

"Haven't seen him for the last three days. What's up? You look as if you were about to drop."

"Tranter laughed.

"Perhaps I do. . . He stood for a moment looking round him vaguely, as if he were looking for something. There was a curious pallor in his face, and his lips twitched nervously.

"More awake, stared at him intently."

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Nothing wrong, I hope?"

"No, but I'm a bit tired," I said. "That's all right," he said. "I'm a bit tired, too. I've been working hard for the last three days. What's up? You look as if you were about to drop."

"Have you seen Mr. Faversham?" "I haven't seen him, sir—not for the last day or two. I was wondering what had become of him, so regular he comes in as a rule."

"Yes, yes, I know," Tranter moved away mechanically. He looked ill, the porter thought. After a second he followed him.

"Have you tried his room, sir?" he asked. "I haven't," Tranter said. "I'll go and see if he's there."

"I have tried," I've been round. He's not there."

"Tranter wandered back again to Parry. He hardly knew what he was doing. An hour previously he had received Mrs. Dundas's letter, and since that time he had been in a feverish dream."

He had only read the few lines of the letter, and he had been so busy that he had not had time to think of it.

She had written kindly, very kind, in her new happiness. Little had found it possible to pity this man. She had asked him to forgive her, she had even sincerely hoped in her heart that he would soon for-way that should more than reinstate it in favor. When I viewed 'The Northern Trail,' I realized more emphatically the fault of the motion picture. Commercially speaking, the five-reel picture has been a failure. I speak of the majority of 'feature' pictures. There are, of course, innumerable pictures of from five to eight reels, which have been effective. To go beyond the question of limitation. Commercial methods were used to standardize it, just as canned beans and breakfast foods are standardized. But standardized entertainment is a paradox, for variety is the quintessence of diversion. One of the prime limitations was in the matter of footage. Every film had to be stretched to at least five reels, just as, in 1904, it was thought that every film must be kept to one reel. Thus, we had producers making long stories out of short ones. Everything from a poem to a college yell was dramatized to the standard length. And when anything is attenuated, it loses its kick. Great art demands the elimination of all irrelevancies.

"The short story has been the favorite form of American literature. O. Henry, of all writers, is perhaps the most typically American, because he wrote concisely and faithfully of common American life. Some of his stories were produced as five-reelers without much success, whereas those done as two-reels often overshadowed the feature of the programme."

Gained By Shortening.

"The Policeman and the Baby" has much of the O. Henry spirit. It moves rapidly, without seeming to. It is not a remarkable story, but it is a story. It moves without deviation, along the lines of its plot, and hence is drama. The Northern Trail is tragedy, done with such human touch that it has nothing of the morbid.

Mr. Bracken took only a week to shoot each of these productions, thus they were done with the maximum of economy. By economizing on time, a producer can afford the best actors, cameramen and directors.

"Other producers are watching his experiments, ready to follow in line, after the manner of geese—and film producers. The success seems assured for such as the Bracken make. Thus, it would seem that the short drama, like the skirt, gains much by shortening. But, of course, all depends upon what is shown after shortening."

Women who wear small sizes will be specially interested in this showing of new frocks. They are fashioned from a very beautiful quality of messaline silk and contain those characteristics necessary to smartness.

after all he had been making a mountain out of a mole-hill. He felt rather sheepish as he greeted Miles.

"I was just passing, and thought I'd look in. Best of a night, eh?"

"Yes," Miles looked faintly surprised. "Did you come to tell me that?" he asked dryly.

Parry laughed.

"Well, no! As a matter of fact, rather an unpleasant thing happened in the club this evening. Tranter . . ."

—he looked apologetically at Faversham—"Tranter came in and asked for you. I thought he looked a bit queer, but he said there was nothing the matter. Anyway, that young fool Selby came in a few minutes afterwards. He said he had seen you, and he let out that he'd seen you at Paddington this morning with Mrs. Dundas. . . It's no business of mine, for you, I thought he looked a bit queer. You ought to have seen Tranter's face."

There was a little silence. Faversham had not moved. He was standing staring before him, a deep frown between his eyes.

"It's no business of mine, as I said before," Parry went on awkwardly. "But . . . I couldn't help remembering that bit of ours, you know, and so . . . I thought I'd just come round and warn you."

"Warn me?" Faversham laughed outright. "My dear chap, what on earth against?"

Jake Schas Gallops Home in Great Race

Parsons' Game Gelding Carried Top Weight in Heavy Track But Made Every Post a Winner in Oak Bay Handicap Purse; Gafeteria, Conichon, Foeman and Mistake Paid Good Prices; Favorites Performed Fairly Well.

Jake Schas, the fleet-footed gelding from the Parsons' stable, who has won many important races in the West this year, romped home an easy winner in the Oak Bay Handicap Purse, the feature race at the Willows track yesterday afternoon. The big bay jumped to the front the moment the gate was sprung and was given an easy ride by young Hayward. Even at that Jake Schas ran the rest of the field tired before half the distance had been completed.

The field offered plenty of speculation. Short Stop was touted at the start and at the third reading was a high favorite. There was a heavy flood of money on Jake Schas before the horses went to the post and he justified the confidence placed in him by leading the field over the entire mile and one sixteenth and finishing with lengths to spare. Schas carried top weight on a heavy track and he proved that he is one of the gamiest as well as fastest thoroughbreds at the Willows track.

Hayward, a Victoria jockey, had the honor of riding the winner. This is the younger's first appearance before his home town racing enthusiasts. He showed splendid judgment in handling the Parsons mount and received a good hand when he went to the judge's stand in company with Miss Parsons and her father to receive the big silver cup awarded by John Victor to the winner of the race.

Prince Direct came strongly at the close of the race and was second with the riding Nashotah grabbing the show money.

Hayward Repeats.
Hayward came right back with another sensational win in the fifth race. He rode Full Moon, an outsider, to a length-victory over Ella Waldo, the public choice. The favorite got in front by showing a burst of speed in the first furlong, and held on to the lead until rounding the last turn, when she started to fall back. Hayward urged Full Moon up the stretch and won the decision. The winner paid $12.50 for the first place and $2.50 for the second.

Deckhand Again Wins.
Neal Cloud's bay gelding Deckhand performed splendidly in the last race of the afternoon over one mile and seventy yards. He repeated his performance of the previous afternoon by winning easily. The money in this race was well spread over the ponies, with Baby Cat a short favorite over Deckhand.

Several longshots poked their noses under the wire and paid well. Mistake, a chestnut gelding, made no mistake about the third race, winning the decision in the last few yards after a killing drive with Muriel's Pet. Mistake paid at the rate of $8 to 1. Baby Girl, the favorite, never had a chance. Letty Lee finished third.

A Good Price.
Conichon paid a splendid price for place in the second race of five furlongs. Starting as a 53 to 1 shot, he made the running in the home stretch but was unable to overtake the early lead established by the Squash, the second public choice. Wilson rode Squash a bit hard in the early furlongs and the filly put managed to last. Conichon paid $33.80 for place. Foeman was third horse under, and paid the best money of the afternoon. The show price was $52.10.

Neal urged You Bet, a public choice, under the wire a winner in the opening race, five furlongs. Fireball II, got nearest to the leader with Chattancourt third.

Cafeteria romped home to a good win in the sixth race, six furlongs, winning over the favorite Kitty Cheatham, and paying twelve to one. Cafeteria was never in danger during the race. Thrills was the third to finish.

The results were as follows:
First race—First You Bet (Neal), paid straight $5.75, place $2.75, show $2.65; second, Fireball II (McEwen), paid place $2.70, show $2.70; third, Chattancourt (Caron), paid show $4.30.

Other horses were May Dawn, Lantern, Von Lady, Dixie Masonian Tommy W.

Second race—First, Squash (Wilson), paid straight $39.10, place $14.95, show $8.50; second, Muriel's Pet (Mills), paid place $6.85, show $4.75; third, Letty Lee (M. Garrett), paid show $5.

Other horses were Maid of Thiel, Daisy N., Mex. Due De Quise, Volina and Olive D.

Third race—First, Mistake (Caron), paid straight $39.10, place $14.95, show $8.50; second, Muriel's Pet (Mills), paid place $6.85, show $4.75; third, Letty Lee (M. Garrett), paid show $5.

QUIMET LOSES OUT IN EXCITING MATCH

Boston Star Defeated by Johnston is U. S. Amateur Golf Championship; Hunter In St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 22.—Four exciting contests to-day mark the third round of match play in the national amateur golf championship at the St. Louis Country Club.

Harrison R. Johnston, of St. Paul, who yesterday defeated Francis Ouimet, to-day meets Jess Guilford, of Boston.

Chick Evans, defending his title, meets Jesse Sweetser.

These two matches are in the upper half of the draw and their survivors must face each other in the semi-finals on Friday.

In the lower half the contestants were Bob Gardner, of Chicago, and R. Knapp, of St. Paul, who yesterday met in one match, and Willie Hunter, British Champion, and Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, in the other.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—In one of the most thrilling matches played in a national amateur championship, Harrison R. Johnston, of St. Paul, Minnesota, yesterday defeated Francis Ouimet, of Boston, former national open and amateur champion, taking the 36th hole, four to five, and winning one.

The outcome of the match was in doubt until the last two putts hung on the lips of the cup. These hanging putts were emblematic of the evenness of the contest.

Significantly, each player failed to gain an advantage, for both wasted putts at critical stages.

Ouimet is the third former champion to fall, but Robert Gardner, who yesterday defeated T. D. Armour of Scotland, four and three. Champion "Chick" Evans squelched Richard Bockkamp of St. Louis, seven and five.

Jones vs. Hunter.
Bobby Jones won from O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., nine and eight by shooting a 73 in the morning and a 70 in the afternoon. The victory gave the British champion, Willie Hunter, in the third round to-day, as Hunter defeated James Manion of St. Louis, two and one.

Jesse Sweetser, by eliminating Dewey Weber, three and two, and Jess Sweetser, of New York, by downing L. E. Bunning, of Chicago, four and three, kept the representation of the United States in the championship.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—In one of the most thrilling matches played in a national amateur championship, Harrison R. Johnston, of St. Paul, Minnesota, yesterday defeated Francis Ouimet, of Boston, former national open and amateur champion, taking the 36th hole, four to five, and winning one.

The outcome of the match was in doubt until the last two putts hung on the lips of the cup. These hanging putts were emblematic of the evenness of the contest.

Significantly, each player failed to gain an advantage, for both wasted putts at critical stages.

Ouimet is the third former champion to fall, but Robert Gardner, who yesterday defeated T. D. Armour of Scotland, four and three. Champion "Chick" Evans squelched Richard Bockkamp of St. Louis, seven and five.

Jones vs. Hunter.
Bobby Jones won from O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., nine and eight by shooting a 73 in the morning and a 70 in the afternoon. The victory gave the British champion, Willie Hunter, in the third round to-day, as Hunter defeated James Manion of St. Louis, two and one.

Jesse Sweetser, by eliminating Dewey Weber, three and two, and Jess Sweetser, of New York, by downing L. E. Bunning, of Chicago, four and three, kept the representation of the United States in the championship.

His Bible conference here was opened at the First Presbyterian Church last night, and meetings will be held daily at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening for the balance of this month.

Among Moravians.—An interesting address was given by Rev. Rev. Dr. Clay presided.

His reports that business is good throughout Canada in his line at any rate, and the West is producing more business than the East in proportion to population.

Two Cars Collide.—Clearing out from behind a truck owned by J. Thirkell, to avoid collision with the latter stopped suddenly, a car driven by J. M. Nesbitt, North Quadra Street, was in collision with a car approaching from the opposite direction and driven by Angus Polson, Cloverdale. The accident took place on Quadra Street. Mrs. Polson was slightly injured in the resulting crash, while both cars were slightly damaged. The truck was not implicated in the mix-up. Constable Rankin, of the Seanch police, attended.

Too Serious Play.—The little daughter of Mrs. E. Musgrave, 716 Market Street, was made the victim of a childish prank yesterday that very nearly had fatal results. While cycling the girl was attacked by a boy in the uniform of a redskin, and pushed off her bicycle on to the oily pavement. Some damage being done to the machine. The boy explained that he was an "Indian Chief," and was making a raid upon the "pale-face."

Commissioner of Liquor Board Directs Big Mainland Business From Vancouver

James H. Falconer, commissioner of the B. C. Liquor Control Board, with his headquarters in Vancouver, who is in charge of the extensive operations of the Board throughout the whole Mainland of B. C., has arrived in Victoria to attend the Victoria exhibition with Mrs. Falconer. He says he has missed taking part in very few Victoria exhibitions since the early days of this city when he started his manufacturing enterprises here.

Business of the Liquor Board is now running smoothly, Mr. Falconer said and the turnover has grown to large proportions.

While here Mr. Falconer is going into Liquor Board business with the two Victoria members of the Board, Mr. and Mrs. Falconer are at the Empress Hotel.

Y.W.C.A. TO OPEN FALL CLASSES SHORTLY

Swimming and Gymnastics Among Excellent Courses Arranged

The Fall activities of the Y. W. C. A. will open September 28, when the gymnasium and swimming classes will commence at the Y. M. C. A., and continue every Wednesday until April 28, with probably a short break at Christmas. These classes will comprise:

Swimming only, 2 to 2.40 p.m. and 6 to 6.40 p.m.; gymnasium and swimming or gymnasium and basketball, 2 to 3.30 p.m. and 6 to 7.30 p.m.

The Association is glad to be able to offer the girls who have the half holiday—Wednesday—afternoon this opportunity of a jolly time in the gymnasium and swimming pool.

The Association also has been most fortunate in securing the services of Miss Thorpe, a graduate of Bedford Physical Training College, and who so efficiently coached the basketball teams last year, for the afternoon classes in the "gym," also those of Miss Wright, the popular physical instructor for the evening gymnasium and swimming class. Mrs. R. W. Hiberson has kindly offered to help in the evening swimming class, and the committee in charge would be glad to hear of someone who would be willing to undertake the instruction of the afternoon swimming classes.

Miss Kate Hemming will again take charge of the choral class, which will be for girls only. This class for those who enjoy singing yet may not consider themselves singers, as well as for those who have had training. This is a splendid opportunity for a pleasant and profitable evening.

Many girls will be glad to hear that a dramatic class under the able leadership of Mrs. J. C. Newbury will be started October 7. Full particulars of above classes may be obtained from the general secretary at 745 Yates Street, where registrations will be received.

MILLS FIGURING ON ADMIRALTY ORDER

Big Contract Is to Be Awarded by the End of the Month

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—The fact that Great Britain has decided to build four great battleships will probably mean another slice of industrial activity to British Columbia. A few weeks ago the British Admiralty asked for tenders for between three and four million feet of lumber, and British brokers immediately requested prices from British Columbia mills. Four or five of the larger lumber manufacturers and dealers of the Coast are now figuring, and will submit their tenders shortly. The contract is to be awarded on September 30. The lumber is for scaffolding and general construction work in the different yards where the battleships are to be constructed.

ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIMMER GAVE UP; WATER TOO COLD

Dover, England, Sept. 22.—Henry Sullivan, of Lowell, Massachusetts, who yesterday afternoon made a fifth attempt to swim across the English Channel, was obliged to abandon his effort before reaching the French Coast. When he decided to give up the attempt he had reached a point twelve miles off this city. He was forced to abandon his swim because of the coldness of the water, after swimming nine hours. He was taken from the water at 11:20 o'clock last night.

FUSHIMI MARU IN PORT FROM ORIENT

Misunderstanding Regarding Routing of Conference Delegates Resulted in Light List

When the liner Fushimi Maru was on the Japan coast it was thought that she would be the vessel selected to carry the Japanese delegates to the International Disarmament Conference and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha agents at Shanghai, Hongkong and other ports in the Orient, because of this impression, were instructed from Yokohama not to book passenger space for the present voyage.

The Japanese delegation to Washington will now come on the liner Kashima Maru.

It was because of the misapprehension existing regarding the booking of passengers that the liner Fushimi Maru left the Orient with a comparatively small passenger list. The Japanese liner reached port at 9 o'clock this morning with a total of 173 passengers, one of the lightest lists that has been brought here in this class for many months.

Landed Here.

H. A. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hornsby, U. Yoshikawa and K. Kimura were first class passengers landing at this port.

The saloon passengers routed to Seattle included A. Hashin, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Almeida, Miss B. Elisoova, J. B. Douthirt, T. W. Hilton and G. W. Eastwate.

In the second cabin the Fushimi Maru carried 13 passengers for Seattle.

The third class passengers for Victoria were made up of 26 Japanese, 22 Chinese and 8 Assyrians. The steerage for Seattle included 32 Japanese, 23 Russian, 3 Assyrians, 1 British and 1 Filipino. The eight Assyrians seeking to land here may be barred by the immigration regulations.

Capt. R. Shimidzu, commander of the liner, reports an excellent voyage.

The Fushimi Maru brought in a light cargo of 3,000 tons, including less than 100 tons for Victoria. Her raw silk shipment for the East amounted to 3,750 bales. The Japanese liner cleared shortly before noon for Seattle.

ALL PASSENGERS BY THIS BRANCH MUST NOW TRAVEL IN CABOOSSES

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 22.—All passengers on the Bellingham-Gladwin branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway will be carried in cabooses hereafter, it was announced today. The railway has removed its last passenger coach from the line. Automobile stages, it was said, have practically eliminated all passenger traffic.

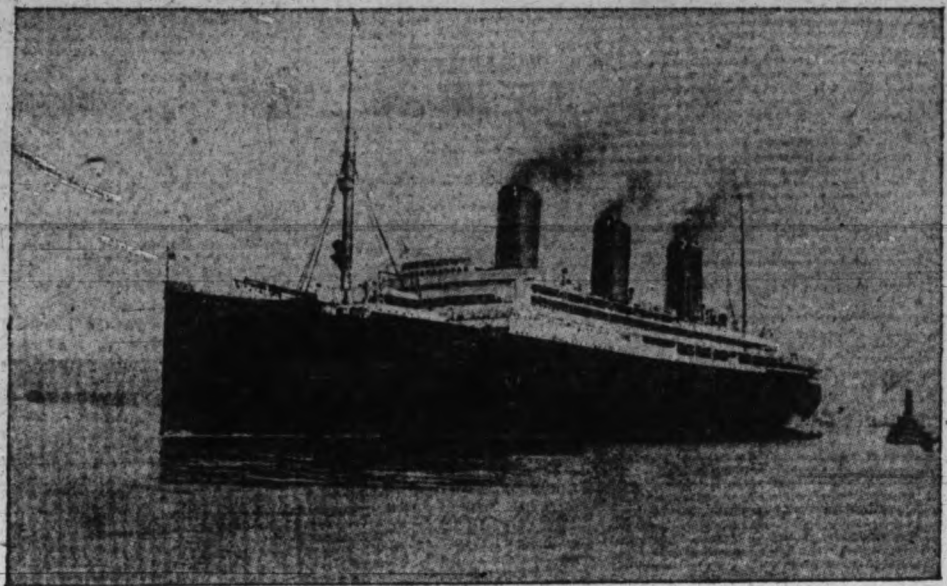

The O. S. K. liner Manila Maru, which is now loading at Tacoma, will sail from this port September 29 for the Orient. While at Vancouver the Manila Maru took aboard 750 tons of pulp and 600,000 feet of lumber.

Flooding of Canadian Importer Still Mystery

Suggestion Is Made That Ship May Have Been Accidentally Scuttled; Stokehold Pumped Out and Remains Dry; Drydocking of Vessel May Solve Puzzle.

"Was the Canadian Importer accidentally scuttled?" This is a pertinent question that is being asked here by men with expert knowledge of ships.

The engineroom of the Canadian Importer has been pumped dry and the most puzzling feature is that no water is now finding its way into the stokehold.

Ships have been imperilled before when valves have been manipulated by those not fully conversant with their operation. It is hinted in some quarters that the engineroom might have been flooded through the Kingston valve.

As far as is known the bulkheads remain intact and not even the slightest intimation has leaked out that might suggest a reason for the water's ingress soon after the vessel cleared from Cape Flattery.

No doubt a report on the casualty has been submitted by the captain of the ship to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. Many theories have been advanced as to the probable cause of the mishap to the Canadian Importer, but they are merely conjectural and cannot be substantiated. It has been suggested that an investigation might throw further light on the cause of the trouble.

Ship Rights Herself.

The ship, now that the water has been pumped out, has righted herself, and the work of discharging the cargo proceeds at the Ogden Point pier.

One of the salvage divers has made a thorough inspection of the ship's plates, chiefly in the vicinity of Number 2 hold, where the water is supposed to have entered the ship, but not the slightest defect was located.

May Solve Puzzle.

As soon as the lumber has been taken out of the holds the ship will shift to Esquimalt and floated into the Government drydock for survey. This inspection may disclose more than has been ascertained up to the present. One theory that has been advanced is that some of the ship's plates may have been sprung when she is supposed to have bumped the Government dock when in port on her last voyage.

JAPAN NOW PREPARING FOR BIGGER BUSINESS

Modern Machinery is Being Installed in Cotton Factories

Modern machinery is being installed in the cotton manufacturing plants of Japan and two million spindles are now operating in the Far Eastern country, according to T. W. Hilton, representative of the famous firm of Howard & Buller, of Accrington, near Manchester, England, who is returning home after supervising the installation of cotton machinery in the large Japanese manufacturing centres.

Mr. Hilton arrived here this morning on the Japanese liner Fushimi Maru from Yokohama. Post war conditions brought a slump in Japan, but the country is now rapidly recovering, and the Japanese manufacturers are now preparing for improved business, says Mr. Hilton.

SAANICH WATER BY-LAW.

To the Editor.—In answer to the question of "Ratepayer," the reason why a water by-law is re-submitted is that 630 property owners and ratepayers of Saanich petitioned the Council for the re-submission.

The city has made a very liberal concession to Saanich if the by-law is passed before October 1, 1921.

In regard to taxes, I do not think that it will be a heavy burden on the water works is a paying proposition, and after the pipe is paid for an eternal source of revenue.

If "Ratepayer" finds he is taxed more than he thinks just let him move into the city or Oak Bay. The people of Wards One and Three need water, and need it badly; they will pay for it, and by every right they ought to have it.

Do not let us act the "dog in the manger" or the "sour puss, Jack, I can swim," attitude any longer. The rates will be higher by some good sum to provide doles for unemployed; let us spend our doles in useful work to make Saanich water better to drink than the fruit, etc. for the growing city.

SAANICH WATER BY-LAW.

To the Editor.—May I be accorded the privilege of answering the letter published by "Ratepayer" in your yesterday's issue?

In answer to the question "Why is the Council bringing it up at all when it has been twice turned down by the people with a very short time to go?" Because the Council made up of men having a thorough knowledge of the affairs of the Municipality, and in the interests of the Municipality as a whole, deem it a wise and proper thing to do for many reasons, the chief one being that they were petitioned to do so by some six hundred residents of Saanich, who realising that the economic development of a wonderfully rich district is being retarded by the lack of a water system for domestic and agricultural purposes, are big enough to support the welfare of other districts as well as their own.

It is further stated that the taxes for the entire Municipality will be materially increased. This is a misstatement of facts. The only property holders whose taxes will be increased are the ones who are getting the water and who bear the full cost of the scheme. It is requested that any taxpayer in doubt on this point refer to the Council or to the officials of the Municipality for confirmation.

A change in the by-law this year which guarantees that the scheme will be paid for under exactly the same terms as the present water users has secured

SIR E. CASSEL

DIED IN LONDON

Was Well-known Financier and Philanthropist

London, Sept. 22.—Announcement of the death of Rt. Hon. Sir Ernest Joseph Cassel, financier and philanthropist, was made here today.

He was born in Cologne on March 3, 1852, a son of Jacob Cassel, a banker of that city. When he was sixteen years old he came to England, where he completed his education and entered business. His extraordinary financial ability gained recognition and he became internationally known as a financier. He floated immense national loans and was a prominent figure in the development of Egypt, Argentina and Mexico. Sir Ernest was financial adviser to the late King Edward and was called to the monarch's death-bed shortly before Edward passed away. He was created a knight in 1899, and was decorated by the Governments of France, Sweden, Turkey and Japan.
